Generation No. 1

1. JAMES8 ADAMS (DAVID7, HENRY6, EDWARD5 SR., ENSIGN ADAMS, HENRY4 ADAMS, JOHN3, HENRY2, JOHN1) was born March 03, 1721/22 in Canterbury, Connecticut, and died Aft. 1788 in Pennsylvania, or New Jersey. He married SARAH RICH February 05, 1750/51 in Canterbury, Connecticut, daughter of JONATHAN RICH and SARAH UNKNOWN. She was born 1730 in Connecticut, and died in Pennsylvania, or New Jersey.

Notes for JAMES ADAMS:

"Cushetunk 1754-1784" by James W. Burban, "A Brief History of Early Settlers Who Called Themselves The Delaware Company" , states "James Adams (was) a grantee in the third Indian Deed, signed at Coshaitan, 11 November 1755. He built his log house near the mouth of Calkin's Creek, close to the house of Moses Thomas. To this house he brought his wife and son, Deliverance Adams , then only seven or eight years old." This son was born late in 1751, so the time mentioned would've been about 1759. Two daughters had been born during that time period , with Sarah pregnant, or about to be, for a third daughter. There is the question, what happened to these girls? Did they die you, get left behind with relatives? The births are recorded in Canterbury, Connecticut----at the time of the event, or at a later date?

The Nathan Skinner manuscript, states from a document still in file in Northampton Co., Pennsylvania , dated 8th June 1761 - "William Allen, chief Justice of the Province of Pennsylvania , ordered the sheriff of Northampton County to arrest Daniel Skinner, Timothy Skinner, Sim(e) on Calkin, John Smith , Jedidiah Willis, James Adams, Irwin (Ervin) Evans ,others for having intruded on the Indian Lands about Cushetunk; to take up such Connecticut men and others, as have settled about Cushetunk without leave."

For a detailed account of this document, the surrounding issues, see "The Legend of Cushetunk: et al" by Barbara J. Sivertsen and Barbara L. Covey, pub. 1993 by Heritage Books, Bowie, Maryland. One statement in particular, that the settlers had the support of the Cushetunk Indians could certainly have basis in fact, when one considers the intermarriage with so many families with Native People/Mixed Blood. Nor would the warring factions and unfriendly Indians give lie to this - the Iroquois had their own agenda, when it came to the Delaware, and circumstances, with both settlers , those politically in power as well as various groups of the Delaware, all fermenting to bode problems no matter which side you were on.

"At that time , East Jersey claimed the river to the rock known by the name as "Station Rock" standing by the river about one half mile above the Chochection Bridge. There were two forts, one at Cochection, about one quarter mile above Calkin Creek . The inhabitants in the vicinity were: (Ezra) Witter, (Jedediah) Willis, (John) Smith , James Adams and family. Moses Thomas and family , Aaron Thomas and family, whether others had families has not been learned."

The children's births, with the exception of Samuel, are recorded at Connecticut. Samuel's descendants vary stating he was born either in Pennsylvania or New Jersey.

The Skinner Manuscript was originally by Nathan Skinner, born 4 April 1777, d. 15 Nov 1856, aged 79 years. The original manuscript was owned by Edna Skinner Beegle. A copy is in the Grosvonor Library, Buffalo, Erie Co., New York . Cora Skinner donated the family Bible to the Wayne County Historical Society , Honesdale, Pennsylvania.

"Pioneer Days at Cochection, New York" was copied, arranged and indexed by Rev. Charles Skinner, Fertile, Minnesota - 1924

Children of JAMES ADAMS and SARAH RICH are:

- 2. i. DELIVERANCE ADAMS, b. October 20, 1751, Canterbury, Connecticut; d. November 1834, Monticello, Sullivan Co., New York.
- ii. SARAH ADAMS, b. April 13, 1754.

- vi. SAMUEL ADAMS, b. Abt. 1770.

Generation No. 2

Delverance Adams of Ulster and Delaware Cos, New York, Wayne co., PA

2. DELIVERANCE⁹ ADAMS (JAMES⁸, DAVID⁷, HENRY⁶, EDWARD⁵ SR., ENSIGN ADAMS, HENRY⁴ ADAMS, JOHN³, HENRY², JOHN¹) was born October 20, 1751 in Canterbury, Connecticut, and died November 1834 in Monticello, Sullivan Co., New York. He married BE-TI-A VANDUNK Abt. 1773 in Cranbury Lake area, New Jersey, daughter of WILLIAM VANDUNK and RA-JA-HIA. She was born September 1755 in Cranbury, New Jersey (?), and died Aft. 1834 in Shawnee Territory, Ohio.

Notes for DELIVERANCE ADAMS:

"Quinlan's History of Sullivan county", page 292: (in conjunction with a section about Long Eddy, New York) "prior to the Revolutionary War, Deliverance Adams was living there with John Dusingburg on the Basket Switch, along with Joseph Geer.

Official record of Deliverance is found in the Revolutionary Pension files, National Archives, Washington, D.C. Deliverance enlisted at Wallenpaupack, Northampton Co., Pennsylvania, in June of 1776. He served 5 months in Captain Abraham Shimer's Company, Colonel Ephraim Martin's New Jersey Regiment, and was in the battles of Long Island and White Plains. He enlisted again 1 January 1777, serving 3 years in Captain William Judd's Company, Colonel Wyllys Connecticut Regiment. The papers further state he was a private, and he was living in Buckingham County, Pennsylvania 20 May 1818. Other than New York 1790, Deliverance doesn't appear in any Federal census. His enumeration for New York shows him living in Mamakating, Ulster Co. with his family.

Deliverance was allowed his pension ($45170) on 20 May 1818. In his application he listed property owned in Wayne county, Pennsylvania as "24 acres of wild land with a log cabin upon it for which I paid $1 an acre, and have paid $24 on it." In 1820, he was listed by the War Department as living with a son-in-law in Sullivan Co., New York

Deliverance married, estimated, about 1773/1774 to Be-ti-a. She is listed in the family records of the Adams family, and as the Mother of her children by Deliverance in the Mormon International Genealogical Index (micro-fiche). These old records were at Mamakating, Ulster County, New York. (once claimed by New Jersey).

Deliverance Adams died in Tompson township, Sullivan County, New York, probably late November, 1834. Administration papers were filed on 1 December 1834. Sarah Brown and William Adams relinquished their rights as administrators as "the only surviving children" which was totally erroneous. His daughter, Lydia, with her husband, John Lord II, was alive, in Lordville, New York. His son, James, wife, Phebe, were living in Hancock, New York with his wife, family members door to door. Son, Jonathan, married to Fanny Lane, and ancestors of the author, were living in Manchester Twnp., Wayne Co., Pennsylvania, another son was living in Sussex Co., New Jersey, and owner of the Adams Bible.

Much speculation could be made as to why this statement was made. There were claims against the meagre estate, perhaps this was done to hasten settlement, avoid court procedures. The possibility of hard feelings always exist--one member being care taker of Deliverance--but nothing indicating this has survived, either in writing, or orally.

It is more sensible that, due to Be-ti-a being Indian, the sons of Indian mix, perhaps "looking" like it--their wives being also of the same "mix"--it was, as in most cases then, now, wiser to stay out of view. Under the law, Indians couldn't inherit. It was possibly deemed wise not to get embroiled in legalities. In many families of this "make-up" it was common for the family members who looked the least like what they were to do business for the rest of the family.

It is proven beyond any doubt the children were alive, what the inter-familial relationships were. The truth behind Deliverance' estate, administration may be something we will never know for certain.

Deliverance is supposedly buried in Milanville Cemetery, although one historian said he was buried in Monticello, New York. It was recently mentioned there is, way back in the Milanville site, a row of sunken graves that were soldiers of the Revolution. None have stones, but it seems a likely place.

Deliverance Adams marriage date is estimated. His wife, Be-ti-a (Bethia in some records) Van Dunk, was a full blood Minisink Indian of the Delaware tribe, was said to have been born "in the Moon of September 1755".(see notes on Be-ti-a)

Notes for BE-TI-A VANDUNK:

Be-ti-a (Bethia in some records) Van Dunk, was a full blood Minisink Indian of the Delaware tribe, said to have been born "in the Moon of September 1755". Descendants in Sussex Co., New Jersey stated, in the 1940s, to Betsey Jane Adams, (1874-1971) her birth date was 2 February 1755. The Bible specifically says she was "Delaware Minisink Indian", the little date under that statement says "1834", although the Bible title page gives an edition date of 1832. No death date was given, but mid 1990s, this problem was solved to a large degree. In sending a written history of my family to James "Lone Bear" Revy - (He fought for/founded, the New Jersey Indian Commission) --We 'd discussed our families several times. Lone Bear was himself Delaware, born in New York state, educated, in Oklahoma, among the Delaware People. The day he got, read, my history, he called me with the question "You don't know who she (Be-ti-a) was, do you?" --I replied I had known a lot about her from her marriage forward, next to nothing beyond that. Lone Bear explained -- Be-ti-a was the Holy Woman who had walked, from Pennsylvania, to Ohio, teaching the Longhouse ceremonies among the Wyandot, Delaware, Miami and Shawnee Indians pushed out there. It was in no small part these things survived into Kansas, Oklahoma via her efforts. -it was said, she died among the Shawnee, over 90 years of age, was buried by them among their People.

Lone Bear told me, when he was being schooled in Oklahoma, they knew who she was, but not what happened to her own family, where they were, what became of them.

Be-ti-a, said to be her Indian name, was said to be the daughter of a William A. (Augustine?) Van Donk, born someplace in New York, perhaps Long Island? Her Mother appears/ was said to be "Ra-ja-hia" , the daughter of "Pon-ti-ton". both names surviving thru several generations.

The Van Dunk/Van Donk/Dunk name originates with a Dutchman, Adrian Van (der) Dunk, whose dealings with the Indians Included frequent visits where in they stayed in his home for long periods..

Children of DELIVERANCE ADAMS and BE-TI-A VANDUNK are:

Children of Deliverance, Delaware Co -- plus families of Lord, Cole, Jensen

3. LYDIA¹⁰ ADAMS (DELIVERANCE⁹, JAMES⁸, DAVID⁷, HENRY⁶, EDWARD⁵ SR., ENSIGN ADAMS, HENRY⁴ ADAMS, JOHN³, HENRY², JOHN¹) was born 1772 in Orange Co., New York, and died Aft. 1855 in Lordville, Delaware Co., New York. She married JOHN LORD II Bet. 1790 - 1792 in Delaware Co., New York, son of JOHN LORD and INDIAN VAN DUNK. He was born Bet. 1772 - 1775 in Ulster Co., New York, and died 1837 in Lordville, Delaware Co., New York.

Notes for LYDIA ADAMS: Lydia and her husband, John Lord II lived near Hancock, New York, where he died. Lydia was living with her son, Freeman, in 1855, Delaware Co. Census, town of Hancock. She stated , or was stated for her, she was 80, and born in Orange Co., New York. They are said to be buried in Stockport, no stones have been found for them.

Notes for JOHN LORD II:

Settled in Lordville, Delaware Co., New York about 1800. His will, which does not mention his living wife-- she was very much alive, appearing on the 1850 Federal, and 1855 New York State census---mentions the "Island in the river".

Children of LYDIA ADAMS and JOHN LORD are:

Notes for PHOEBE LORD: Phoebe and Erastus had 14 children-- why they had 2 sons named John is not explained. The first John died in the Civil War, perhaps the 2nd was named in his Honor.

ix. FREEMAN ALLEN LORD, b. Bet. 1817 - 1818, Lordville, Delaware Co., New York; d. 1907, Lordville, New York; m. ABIGAIL KINGSBURY, 1831, Delaware Co., New York; she b. September 1820, Buckingham Twnp., Wayne Co., Pennsylvania; d. 1911, Lordville, Delaware Co., New York.

Notes for FREEMAN ALLEN LORD: Freeman Lord was a lumber merchant, farmer residing Lordville.

4. SARAH¹⁰ ADAMS (DELIVERANCE⁹, JAMES⁸, DAVID⁷, HENRY⁶, EDWARD⁵ SR., ENSIGN ADAMS, HENRY⁴ ADAMS, JOHN³, HENRY², JOHN¹) was born Abt. 1775 in Ulster Co., New York. She married EBENEZER (EBEN) BROWN. He was born Bet. 1770 - 1775 in New York State. Sarah, who took care of her father and signed off on his estate, seems to be living in the Saratoga area in 1850 with what appears to be a brother in law--John Brown, age 85. Altho she probably had a good sized family, only one is known for certain.

Child of SARAH ADAMS and EBENEZER BROWN is:

i. DELIVERANCE¹¹ BROWN, b. "of Sullivan Co., New York"; m. MATILDA PERSONS, April 04, 1859, Sullivan Co., New York; both of Ulster Co., New York.

5. JAMES¹⁰ ADAMS (DELIVERANCE⁹, JAMES⁸, DAVID⁷, HENRY⁶, EDWARD⁵ SR., ENSIGN ADAMS, HENRY⁴ ADAMS, JOHN³, HENRY², JOHN¹) was born Abt. 1785 in Mamakating, Ulster Co., New York, and died Aft. 1855 in Sullivan Co. or ,Delaware Co., New York. He married PHEBE THORNE Bet. 1810 - 1812 in Sullivan Co., New York. She was born 1795 in Delaware Co., New York, and died Aft. 1855 in Twm of Hancock, Delaware Co., New York.

Notes for JAMES ADAMS: James was a farmer and a lumberman on the Delaware River.

Notes for PHEBE THORNE: Phoebe was a Delaware Indian, her sister Mary married Abner Lane. Descendants interviewed (1970s) said they had been from both New York and Pennsylvania, with family "in New Jersey".. Indian groups mentioned were primarily Delaware, altho Wappinger was also mentioned, along with Nanticoke.

Children of JAMES ADAMS and PHEBE THORNE are:

- i. SARAH¹¹ ADAMS, b. Lordville, Delaware Co., New York; d. 1896; m. JOSIAH COLE.
- ii. WILLIAM ADAMS, m. JANE CATHERINE GARLOW.

Notes for BENJAMIN ADAMS:

"I am sure everyone will agree Benjamin Adams of Lordville was one of the greatest steersman on the Delaware River, and was called upon to run the biggest and heaviest rafts of valuable logs and sawed timber for William Holbert, of Equinunk. Benjamin Adams was sober and industrious and could be relied upon. He was an absolute teetotaler and selected men who did not drink for his oarsmen."

Col. E.J. Branning: "Benjamin Adams, of Lordville ran rafts down the Delaware every month i the year during his sixty odd years steering rafts" source: "Rafting on the Delaware River " by Leslie C. Wood (pub. 1934)

Notes for ANGELINE JENSEN: Baptised at Presbyterian Church of Hancock, NY, (originally Congregational Church of Chehocton, NY, 1 Jan 1830) on Sunday, 23rd June 1985.
