The Charles Hebert and Ursule Forest families were born in Nova Scotia and migrated to New Brunswick and later Quebec. British conquest of Acadia was 1710. The Grand Derangement (the Great Upheaval) of 3/4ths of the Acadian population (French) in Nova Scotia was expelled from the colony during the French and Indian War (1755-64). Some went to Louisiana forming the Cajun culture. Some were sent to various portions of the 13 colonies - some as indentured servants. Some drowned in ships transporting them.
